

It wouldn't be a good deer resistant list without a good disclaimer: the following plants are considered generally unattractive to the deer palate; however some deer are hungrier than others, and some seem to have sophisticated taste! Plants with especially pungent fragrance or particularly fuzzy leaves are usually least attractive to the lovely, hungry creatures and you'll find a varied list of plants below that are great options for those gardeners living in deer country.

SHADE TOLERANT

In the past, shade gardens have been one of the most challenging spaces to plan. So often shade plants seemed to lack the hardiness and tolerance that sun-loving varieties had in abundance. Recently many new varieties have become available that tolerate tougher growing conditions. There are so many colorful and exciting selections it can often be hard to choose. Below you will find a great list of options for those gardening in both a little bit or a lot of shade. * indicates a drought tolerant, shade-loving plant.
